Holiday Train Exhibit

Visit the Depot Museum this holiday season to visit the train display. On loan by Andrew Wartman with the Ludlow Heritage Museum, the trains bring a sense of Christmas nostalgia with a nod to Erlanger's rich railroad history. Take a walk through Christmas past as you navigate the toys and dolls of yesterday. Don't forget to check out the Christmas tree in the doll room....it proudly displays family Christmas photos. That is what the holidays are all about...spending time together. So, make another family memory and visit the Museum this holiday season. Visit

Let's Get Walking - A Historical Walk through Erlanger

Thank you to Melissa Rogers for an engaging morning of Erlanger history! Twenty-five people joined her on a historic walk through the Erlanger Proper subdivision. Signs made by Bob Martin with the Public Works Department were placed in the yards of historic participating homes. Walkers got to see the house that once boarded

Depot agents, the home of James Viox who was a professional baseball player for the Pittsburgh Nationals and grandfather of Jim Viox the City's Engineer, the first house in Erlanger with a complete bathroom, the home of Mr. McGuirl who was a watchman for the railroad, the first schoolhouse in Erlanger, and much more.
